template”, and the other is an “Aero template”. These two templates allow you to make your program have the appearance of “Windows Aero”. The “standard template” is your most basic template. It is already the default template, and you should use it if you are just starting out with adding templates to your program. The “Aero template” allows you to add the “Windows Aero” look to your program, making it look very nice, while not being too overpowering. There is one more thing you need to do in order to make your program look like “Windows Aero”. You need to add a “menu bar”. This gives you a set of commands that will help you work with your application. I am going to show you how to do this, and also how to make it a part of your program. When you have completed these two steps, you
