Cooliris media viewer x64 rarPresident Donald Trump warned about a potential economic disaster if Congress fails to renew a federal program to protect students who attend illegal immigrant children in federal custody, saying Wednesday that "we'll have a huge recession." "Without this money, and without this support, we will be back in a horrible, horrible recession," Trump said in front of a cheering crowd of teachers, students and parents in Kentucky. "I want to warn you: We are going to have a horrible, horrible recession if we don't get your act together and give these children, and all of the children that are being taken care of, back to their countries," he said. Trump's remarks came as lawmakers struggle to pass a four-week extension for the Children's Health Insurance Program, which is funded by temporary emergency funds approved last year to help children who are separated from their families at the border
