Get More Details on site.(a) Technical Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a system to intelligently host or manage a video capture device, and more specifically, a system that allows the capture device to communicate with the host as a USB mass storage device or a networked device. (b) Description of the Prior Art It is a common practice to capture image and video using a digital camera. Some digital camera have a built-in video capture device that allows the user to capture either still images or video, simultaneously. The advantage of having a built-in video capture device is that no additional device is required. However, the user has to capture the images or video using the built-in video capture device which is non-intuitive. Further, the capture operation performed in capturing images or video from the built-in video capture device is not error free and the user sometimes has to manually intervene to correct the captured images or video. If the camera has a
