It was founded in September 1989 by Dennis R. Ellsworth (of the Canadian band Glissando), better known as DJ Skully, and was co-founded by Andy Soares. For the first year, its headquarters were located in Norcross, Georgia in the Atlanta metropolitan area. By October 1990, the company had moved into a larger office in Atlanta and added a new CEO: Eric Baker of NetQuest. Today Cakewalk is an independent producer of DAWs for the desktop market and while it has changed drastically from its creator status, the company's product line remains focused on the creation and production of professional audio tools and products for musicians and the creation and production of a variety of hardware products such as controllers and mixers.
